Adaptive Teaching

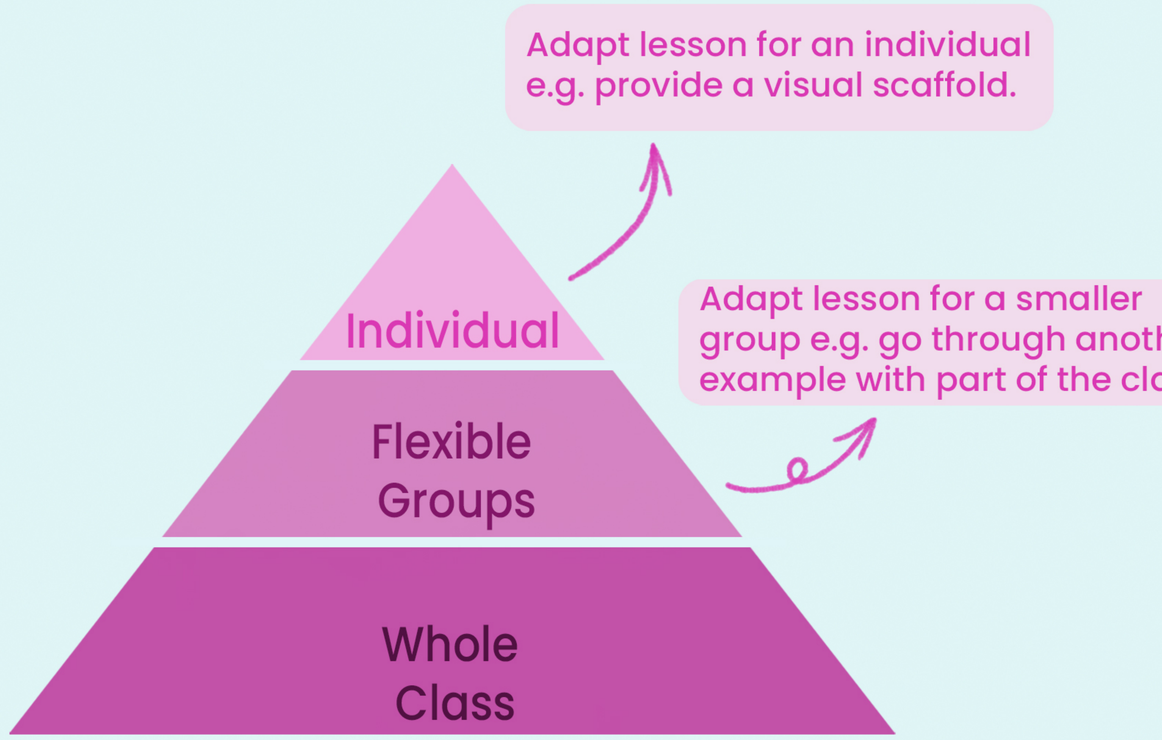

Meeting the needs of all learners without lowering expectations

Before a lesson, decide what adaptions might be appropriate to add additional support or provide additional challenge to pupils.

After the lesson, reflect on what worked well and consider what you will do differently next time.

During the lesson, decide which adaptations to put in place based on the understanding shown by students.

Department of Education

Based on Demystifying Adaptive Teaching, Pearce (2026)

InnerDrive