Consultation Point 1

Is there anything you could suggest that would help promote a more positive view of reading, writing and doing sums among children and young people?

Consultation Point 2

Do you understand the importance of being able to read, write and do sums? Do you think that all children and young people see the importance of these skills?

Consultation Point 3

When you are having difficulty with reading, writing or doing sums what things do you find help you the most:

- Working with the teacher in class;
- Working with a teacher/classroom assistant on your own outside of class;
- Working with a parent at home;
- Something else?

Consultation Point 4

Have you any suggestions how reading, writing and doing sums could be taught in a way that would be better for children?

Consultation Point 5

How do you think we could better encourage parents not only to help their children with school work but also to support the work of the school as well?
